Association of College Educators for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing

February 2004

Newsletter Editor: Pamela Broadston

President's Remarks:

Dear Colleagues and Friends:

Happy New Year!!

We are eagerly awaiting the beginning of the 2005 ACE-DHH conference in Banff, Canada. I know that Mary Ann Bibby and Kate Reynolds and a host of others have pulled together what will be a most remarkable conference. It will be a time of great knowledge sharing and collegial networking. The location and accommodations will be grand as many of you can attest from your last visit to Banff. Those of us visiting for the first time are eagerly waiting to experience all the stories we have been told.

I know that I am echoing Mary Ann when I say be prepared to enjoy the incredible hospitality of our friends from the north.

See you soon,

Tony Martin

ACE-DHH 2005 Conference

North to the Future

President-Elect
Kate Reynolds

We are almost there! The program of presentations has been set and we are ready to go. There are two documents included in the newsletter that outline the program. The first is a chart of all events and presentations. You'll notice there are numbers where names and titles of presentations should go. Refer to the second document and you will find those names of presenters and their presentation titles. Just looking at the breadth of subject presentation tells me we are going to have a very enlightening and thought provoking conference. I can't wait!

Our Wednesday Preconference presenter is Susan Allen from Clarke School-Jacksonville (Florida). During the 9:30-3:30 workshop she will be talking about ways to assess and promote auditory perception and speech production in students who are deaf and hard of hearing. More specifically, she will focus on how we, as college level educators, can better prepare our teacher candidates for the challenges they will face when helping their students develop these auditory, speech, and English language skills. There is still time to sign-up for the workshop. You can either send a check to Margaret Finnegan, the ACE-DHH treasurer or show up at the door and pay there.

This should be a great conference in one of the most beautiful settings imaginable. So get your mukluks and parkas out of the closet and be prepared for a fantastic time in Banff.

ACE-DHH CONFERENCE 2005

NORTH TO THE FUTURE!

Castles in the Rockies

BANFF IS WAITING FOR YOU! All is ready and the rooms are almost full. The program certainly looks like an exciting and informative one!

SHUTTLE INFORMATION can be found on this website - make your reservations now and get a good deal to and from the airport (approximately an hour's ride) : <http://www.banffshuttle.com/conference.htm>

Special ski packages are available through the hotel and can be arranged when you arrive . Be sure to check them out.

The BANQUET is on Saturday night - held in the beautiful Cascade Ballroom. You will have a choice of Van Horne's Pride (Breast of Chicken) or Prairie Sunset (Albert Beef Medallions). Banquet tickets are included in your registration and can be picked up when you register. ADDITIONAL TICKETS for the banquet are available to buy when you register.

We will have a surprise guest speaker from the Association of Canadian Mountain Guides - it will be an entertaining presentation!

PHOTOS: Please remember to bring photos on a disc from previous conferences !

All the information you need is on the website but email me or phone me (780-492-3697) if you need more!

Interpreting Services

TO ALL CONFERENCE PRESENTERS:

The following note is from Deb Russell who is in charge of interpreting services

We are looking forward to providing interpreting services for the upcoming ACEDHH conference. In order to ensure the highest quality of interpreting services, we ask that you provide us with preparation work by Feb 16th, 2005. For example, if you have a Power Point presentation that you will be using, please email that to debra.russell@ualberta.ca. Alternately, if you are presenting a paper, and planning to read it, please send the paper in rich text format to us.

As you know there are no proceedings published of the conference. The preparation materials will be destroyed after the conference and will not be shared with anyone, other than the interpreters who are working your section of the program. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact me.

Also, if you are bringing your own interpreter for your session, I would appreciate knowing that immediately in order to schedule the interpreters to other sessions. Thanking you in advance for your cooperation,

Debra Russell, Interpreter Coordinator for the ACEDHH conference

Membership Renewal

Reminder: Membership is due on or before the annual conference (February 24, 2005). So if you are not attending the conference or didn't submit your membership dues with your registration, please take the time to send that in now. We want your continued membership in this exciting organization. We need your support to continue to grow and impact the field of Deaf Education. Application for membership/renewal was sent with this electronic newsletter and is available in the ACE-DHH website (www.acedhh.org).
